A NewPoint Behavioral Health Care Success Story...

The client is a 65 year old female with a history of sexual abuse as a child. She entered treatment in 2008 for severe depression after separation from her husband, loss of her job, estrangement from her only son. She also filed for bankruptcy and had to deal with a verbally abusive mother. She presented with anxiety and depression rated as a 10 out of 10 (10 being the worst) with intermittent suicidal ideation and spoke of a plan to drive self into a car accident. She also has multiple medical problems and no insurance to get help with them.

She did have a positive response to medication samples the agency provided but things were still very much a struggle for her. In August, the psychiatrist was able to run a free genetic test on her. The genetic test encouraged the psychiatrist to try a different medication. When the change was made there was a significant improvement with her depression. Since then she has been able to be assertive with different relatives, and get and hold a job at a doctor's office. She now has insurance to acquire medical care and has resumed relationships with friends. She has told the psychiatrist "You saved my life. I wouldn't be here if it wasn't for NewPoint".
