

A 2022 Success Story for... Arc Gloucester

The parents of a young woman from Gloucester County who had never attended our camp program, had grown increasingly concerned about their daughter's declining ability to cope with social activities due to the isolation of the Covid-19 quarantine and ongoing restrictions. She struggled through the pandemic and suffered social setbacks because of the lack of community exposure. They were extremely grateful for the opportunity to enroll her in the lifelong learning day camp activities that we provided, but they were still concerned that she would be too anxious. This young lady enjoys music and dancing, and when she entered the Music & Movement Session, she blossomed. It gave her the opportunity to participate and re-explore socialization with others in a safe setting. Her parents were happy with her participation and very grateful to our agency and to the United Way of Gloucester County for the program.
