

THE FOOD BANK OF GLOUCESTER COUNTY
PRESENTS:
A SUCCESS STORY STARRING ...
One of Many Families in Need

The School Pantry at Woodbury Junior-Senior High School now serves the highest percentage of school families in the program’s history. The School Pantry program manager learned that a family with a child attending the school were unable to manage their rent and lost their housing, rendering the family homeless. The program manager was able to reach out and work with the mother in securing placement in a mother-child shelter within the Woodbury School District, enabling the student to return to his class. In appreciation for the School Pantry program’s assistance, the mother now volunteers at the School Pantry, stating, “I love being able to volunteer at the pantry all while getting support for my family. The selection is always good, especially the fresh produce and proteins.”
