

A Success Story submitted by Famcare showcasing: MARIA

Maria is a 26-year-old woman who lost her health insurance after her work hours were reduced. For several months, she experienced ongoing pelvic pain and intermittent sharp pain in her side, leaving her increasingly worried especially as she and her partner hoped to start a family within the next year. Without insurance, Maria delayed seeking care, uncertain how she would afford the answers she needed. Through Famcare, Maria was able to access timely, compassionate care despite being uninsured. Her provider conducted a thorough evaluation and referred her for a diagnostic ultrasound, which confirmed the presence of a benign cyst. The relief of having a clear diagnosis allowed Maria to move forward with confidence rather than fear. Beyond addressing the immediate concern, Maria's Famcare provider took the time to support her long-term goals, offering guidance on nutrition, exercise, and supplements to help prepare her body for a healthy pregnancy. Funding from United Way of Gloucester County made this care possible, ensuring that Maria could receive both the medical answers and personalized support she needed, setting her on a healthy path toward building the family she envisions.
