

A 2022 Success Story for... Center for People in Transition

A single mother came to the Center for People in Transition (PIT) very unsuccessful in obtaining employment, even with a bachelor's degree from Rowan University. She was unemployed and homeless, having to move herself and her daughter in with her sister. PIT assisted her with applying for food stamps and provided toiletries to help her through her hard time. She met with PIT's Program Specialist who reviewed and edited her resume, placed her on job leads, and performed mock interviews with her. She is now employed full time and able to stand on her own two feet again.
